Basically, these two companies are less expensive than Squid Print and Custom Ink, but I need to confirm that they will be printing on 100% cotton garments.

Does anyone have a preference over the three designs (one-color, three-color, or full color)? We could always do a few full-color designs with Squid Print and have the online orders day-of through Squid Print's website, plus some one or three-color designs with one of these other local companies?

Hey Colette and everyone,

Attached are some mockups of the revised designs with 1, 2 or 3 colors for silkscreening. I also uploaded the designs to a few online t-shirt companies' websites to get quotes, and I touched base with Constance and Nick at Squid Print. Responses below.

Squid Print: Constance: "The number of colors doesn't affect the cost for DTG printing, only the size of the print. The cost is tied to the volume amount of ink used." This means even if we changed the design from print-to-garment to one-color silkscreening, the cost would be the same. Squid Print quoted us $15.75 per printing per item, plus the cost of the shirts and sweatshirts (which we have not received a dollar amount for each yet, but would get wholesale prices).

Custom Ink: Full-Color: $4,057.95 total (Screenshot attached). This includes 4 different colored t-shirts and one sweatshirt design using the full-color design. Free shipping by October 13th (if ordered today). $19.75 - $34.45 per garment. (Same number of tees/sweatshirts ordered last year). Link . Custom Ink also mentioned that the merch would be 11% cheaper if we removed the WTF from the front and only made the design one-sided.

Custom Ink: One Color: $2,672.95 total (Screenshot attached). This includes 4 different colored t-shirts and one sweatshirt design using the one-color design. Free shipping by October 13th (if ordered today). $12.70 to $23.45 per garment. (Same number of tees/sweatshirts ordered last year). Custom Ink also mentioned that the merch would be 11% cheaper if we removed the WTF from the front and only made the design one-sided.

Custom Ink: Three Color: $3,148.25 total (Screenshot attached). This includes 4 different colored t-shirts and one sweatshirt design using the three-color design. Free shipping by October 13th (if ordered today). $15.15 to $27.15 per garment. (Same number of tees/sweatshirts ordered last year). Custom Ink also mentioned that the merch would be 11% cheaper if we removed the WTF from the front and only made the design one-sided.
